And to candidates.

From and after this date we will not announce candidates for county offices, or do work for them without payment in advance. This step we deem advisable because it is much easier to pay these bills before than after an election, especially if they are for whom work is done should be defeated. Correspondents will not be allowed to give candidates favorable mention in their letters without paying the regular price, ten cents a line each insertion, for all such matter contained in their letters.

There will be strictly adhered to.

There are now on our books considerable sums contracted by candidates, that are uncollectable, a complication we desire to avoid in future.

We learn that our millers are offering eighty cents per bushel for wheat.

The continued rains are seriously interfering with the threshing of wheat.

In you want a good smoke, try Lockert & Reynolds' "Refresher" cigar. It is the latest thing out.

We call attention to the notice of sale of the Bellwood lands. This is a good opportunity for those wishing to buy small farms.

There will be brand-ande at the cave on next Tuesday, the 4th. Admission to the grounds, 10 cents—music free.

WATERMELONS have begun to make their appearance, and the darkey smith a broad and long smile.

MONDAY night, July 3, regular monthly meeting for the transaction of business at Y. M. C. A. Rooms open at 8 o'clock.

The Cheatham County New Era publishes a numerous signed call on brother Sam. D. Power to offer himself for Floater.

The London Times has received threatening letters from supposed Fenians in which they assert their intention to blow up the building.

Almost every small town in the State, as well as the large ones, has a Matrimonial Association. Why has not Clarksville one of her own? There is plenty of marriageable timber hereabouts.

W. M. WOODCOCK, Internal Revenue Collector for the Middle District of this State has been removed by the President and A. M. Hughes, Jr., of Columbia, nominated in his stead.

The New Haven Register says: "The average of blooming idiots seems to be fully equal to that of last year." Bar-ang all accidents the average of blooming idiots will be much larger.

We understand there was an affair at Allen'sville, Ky., last Sunday, between negroes, in which pistols, knives, razors, etc., played a deadly part. One negro was killed outright and others wounded. No particulars.

EVERY State Credit Democrat of the county who proposes to sustain the recent settlement, is earnestly requested to attend the Mass Meeting next Wednesday at the Court House. The meeting will be called to order at 12 o'clock.

Obituary.

RHODES-SMITH.

On last Tuesday morning at 6:30 o'clock the Presbyterian church, this city, was comfortably filled with near relatives and friends to witness the marriage of the Hon. Rufus N. Rhodes, and Miss Margaret D. Smith, both of this city.

The sacred bonds of union were appropriately solemnized by the Rev. J. W. Lupton in a brief, beautiful service. Prof. Emery presided at the grand organ, playing the usual wedding marches. The following gentlemen acted as ushers: Messrs C. L. Lockert, Ed. S. Munford, B. M. McGraw, Julian P. Gracey, George C. Martin, L. L. Rhodes, Martin Elder and Ed. C. Campbell. There were no other attendants. The affair was particularly elegant and refined.

The groom is known to all of our citizens as the talented representative of our county in the State Legislature and a gifted member of the Bar. His lovely bride is the acknowledged queen of Clarksville society, generally admired and esteemed by all who have the honor of her acquaintance. She is the elder daughter of Mrs. Lucy D. Smith, widow of the lamented C. H. Smith, once a prominent tobaccoist of this city.

They were married in traveling dress and left immediately for Louisville and other Northern cities. We bespeak the sincere sentiments of numberless friends in wishing them the perfect realization of their fondest hopes.

REYNOLDS-HALLS.

On Wednesday morning, at 5:30 o'clock, at Owensboro, Ky., Mr. John B. Reynolds, a member of the drug firm of Lockert & Reynolds, this city, but for some years past a travelling salesman of the extensive firm of Arthur, Peter & Co., Louisville, Ky., was happily united in marriage to Miss Mary F. Halls, of the first named place, Rev. J. M. Halls, father of the bride, officiating. Mr. Reynolds and bride left immediately after the ceremony for this city, where he and his accomplished wife were warmly received by many admiring friends.

Mr. Reynolds is known to all of our people as a young gentleman of the most sterling character, admired and respected by all, both for his business and social attainments. He was born and reared here, and commencing his business life at the very lowest round of the ladder he has by patient energy, faithful application, honest work and fine natural talents carved out for himself an enviable name and position in commercial circles wherever he has been engaged in business. It is indeed a great joy to his friends to see him, while yet so young in life and with so many useful years before him, the coveted jewel and pride of every worthy young man's life, a beautiful and accomplished help-mate and companion for life.

The CHRONICLE extends its congratulatory hand and wishes the happy Benedict and his estimable bride the happiest of married lives.

CAVITT-HOWERTON.

Owing to our absence from the city we inadvertently omitted to make mention, last week, of the marriage of Mr. Howard Cavitt, of Bryan, Texas, to Miss Beulah Howerton, of this city, which happy event occurred on Tuesday evening, the 20th inst. The wedding was a very quiet one, only a few of the intimate friends and relatives of the handsome young couple being present. The Rev. Dr. Waddell, Chancellor of the S. W. P. University, where Mr. Cavitt has been attending school for the last three years, performed the marriage ceremony. They left immediately for their future home, whether the good wishes and hearty benedictions of numerous friends in this city, follow them.

MOODY-MASON.

It is astonishingly strange to notice what wonderful events are sometimes brought about by "true and devoted love." Although dark clouds may at times overcast the sky and cause a shadow of darkest gloom to hover around, and the stream upon which the little bark (laden with its precious cargo of pure love) is floating, may become rough and the huge waves threaten immediate destruction to the little craft; yet by proper care and judicious management, she is safely moored in the "haven of love," and all is joy and peace.

So with Dr. B. F. Moody, Jr., of Sango, Tenn., and Miss Fannie Mason, of Clarksville, Ky. In the year 1871, when they were school-mates in the flourishing school of Cross Plains, and their hearts were young and tender, they not only manifested a tender regard for each other, (such as school-mates always have for one another) but cultivated a love which had for its termination something more than the mere attachment which one comrade feels for another, and on Thursday, the 29th inst., accompanied by Mr. S. T. Halliburton, Dr. Moody left for Clarksville where the holy bonds of matrimony will be solemnized between himself and his long sought treasure, Miss Fannie Mason, Rev. J. A. Lewis officiating.

Dr. Moody is one of Montgomery's best young men and though quite young in his profession, ranks among the best physicians in the country, and we congratulate Miss Mason on having selected a man of such noble endowments for a lifetime companion, and from what we have learned of his betrothed, she is a young lady of many attractive accomplishments, and will doubtless make him an agreeable and affectionate companion. We cordially welcome her to our community, and may the happy couple never have cause to regret the day they took upon themselves the marriage vows and pledged fidelity each to the other for life.

HUSKIE HAUSE.

Sango, Tenn., June 28, 1882.

CHANCERY COURT will meet in regular session next Wednesday. The day has been set, owing to the fact that Tuesday is the great and glorious 4th.

Death of Mr. Joshua Brown.

In the death of this venerable man, which unexpected event occurred at Lebanon, Ohio, on Monday afternoon last, the 26th inst., at 5 o'clock, Clarksville loses one of her oldest and most respected citizens. He was on a visit to relatives at the above mentioned place when he was stricken with paralysis and passed quietly away to the peaceful beyond. He was born in Nelson county, Ky., on December the 25, 1800, and was consequently in the 82nd year of his age. When a young man he moved to Russellville, Ky., and thence in June 1823, to this city, where he has resided ever since, honored and esteemed by all. He was a life long and devout member of the Baptist church, having joined the church in 1816 and was always prompt, earnest and untiring in the discharge of all the duties of a conscientious Christian. He was also one of the oldest masons in the State, connecting himself with this benevolent order in 1821, and at the time of his death was a respected member, high in the ranks, being a Knight Templar.

He raised a large and respected family of children among whom, now living, are Dr. Charles M. John, S. Joshua and Callum H. Brown, of St. Louis, and Justice J. Bailey Brown, A. R. Brown and Miss Evie Brown, of Nashville. He also has relatives living in this city and county.

His remains were brought to this city on the 30th inst. Wednesday morning and funeral services were held at the Baptist church, at 10 o'clock a. m., by the pastor, the Rev. A. D. Sears, assisted in the services by his brother, Rev. J. P. McFerrin, of this city, and Rev. J. W. Rust, of Hopkinsville. Masonic services were also held at the church and his remains were followed to their last resting place at the City Cemetery, by a large concourse of our oldest and most influential citizens.

This passes away, in the full fruition of a well-spent life, another of our old land-marks, leaving a bright and forcible example to young men whose lives are yet before them, of the great respect and love that a quiet, upright Christian life will command of all men. Respected will be the memory of Uncle Joshua Brown.

Sudden Death of Mr. W. W. Kirby.

On Wednesday afternoon last, the residents of New Providence and this city were startled by the sudden and entirely unexpected death of Mr. W. W. Kirby, a well-known resident of the first named place. He was over here on the day of his death between the hours of two and three o'clock and appeared the picture of health and vigor as usual. He returned home about three o'clock but made no complaint of being unwell, only remarking that he felt a little tired and laid down to rest a few minutes. His wife had stepped out to visit some neighbor for a short time and on returning home a few minutes later entered her husband's room, to find him lying a corpse upon the floor. She recovered from the shock sufficiently to call for aid, and on the arrival of a physician and friend they found life extinct and the body cold. He apparently died very suddenly and evidently without a struggle. A Coroner's jury was summoned, and returned a verdict of death, from apoplexy.

Mr. Kirby was, we believe, a native of this country, where he has resided the greater part of his life, and was about forty-five years of age at the time of his death. He has been actively engaged in the tobacco business the greater part of his life, in this city and at Nashville and New York, and was regarded as a man well-versed in his business and liked by all who came in social or business contact with him. He leaves a wife and two little children, to whom in common with the entire community, we extend our heart-felt sympathy in their untimely and great affliction.

He was a member in good standing of the Nashville Lodge of Knights of Pythias and was buried by the members of Cumberland Lodge, of this city, on Thursday evening at 4 o'clock. Interment was had at Greenwood Cemetery with burial services by the Rev. J. D. Barboe.

Mrs. NANCY W. DAVIS, wife of E. M. Davis, died of flux, on Wednesday, at 8 o'clock, p. m., in the 44th year of her age.

The deceased had been a member of the Methodist Church, South, for many years, and died in peace. The funeral was preached Thursday at the family residence by her pastor, Rev. J. C. Putnam and was buried at Bethel.

Owing to the absence of the presiding Judge, the Hon. John F. House, the H. C. Court of the Bar will not hold its regular session on next Tuesday the 4th inst. His Honor will be on hand soon after the adjournment of Congress, on when he may be expected to hold his annual term. We understand there are a number of very urgent cases on the docket which should command his Honor's earliest possible attention. We learn that one or two of the indictments are for capital offenses and the trial of these cases is looked forward to with great interest by the friends of the indicted parties. Eminent counsel have already been employed by both the prosecution and defense.

The steamer Ewald passed down last Tuesday morning with her cargo in full ballast, much to the delight of the small boy, many of whom flocked to the river to listen to its melodious toot-toot. There is nothing on this earth that can so quickly soothe the savage breast of the average small boy as the Calliope.

The Tennessee Press Association met in its annual session at Bon Aqua Springs, on Wednesday and Thursday. We understand quite a number of brother quill-drivers, with their wives, cousins, sisters and aunts (mothers-in-law not allowed) were present and greatly enjoyed themselves. The proceedings were interesting and the Bon Aqua exhilarating.

The Cheatham Rifles Victorious.

The great military prize drill at Louisville, in which the famous Chickasaw Guards of Memphis, the Crescent Rifles of New Orleans, the Porter Rifles of Nashville, and the Quapaw Guards of Little Rock, took part, came off on Wednesday afternoon at Central Park.

It is estimated that over seven thousand people were present on the grounds to witness the drill of these crack citizen soldiery. Every part of the country was greatly interested in the result of the drill and large amounts of money were placed on each company by friends and admirers. Clarksville was duly excited over the event and a number of our young men went to Louisville to see the contest.

It is hardly necessary to say the result of the drill was a surprise to all, even the Crescent themselves. We are unable at present writing to give the exact score of the drill, but in awarding the decision the companies stand as follows: Crescent Rifles, first; Chickasaw Guards, second; Porter, third; and Quapaw, fourth. The papers state that none of the drilling was entirely up to the high expectation of the friends of the companies.

Clarksvillians are disappointed at the defeat of the Chicks but console themselves with the belief that they will redeem themselves at Indianapolis next week. The great National encampment and drills commence at the latter place on Monday, whither all the named companies have gone.

Guitau Goes Off.

Charles J. Guitau, the low assassin, who murdered James A. Garfield, President of the United States, paid the just penalty of his infamous crime on the hangman's scaffold, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on yesterday, June 30; just one year, lacking two days, from the date he perpetrated the appalling deed.

Many efforts were made by his spiritual adviser, brothers and sister to induce President Arthur to grant him a short reprieve on the ground of his probable insanity. This the President rightfully refused and allowed the law to take its course.

The execution of this miserable, cowardly murderer will receive the sanction of the civilized world, and bring a great sense of relief to the outraged American nation.

He was a totally depraved and wicked man, a scoundrel and a scoundrel's wretch, devoid of all the virtues, no mitigating circumstance for his damnable deed has ever been adduced, and it is greatly to the credit, forbearance and high conservative wisdom of the American people, that he has been safely permitted to live so long and given every chance known to enlightened jurisprudence for his worthless life. He has rightfully expiated his dastardly crime upon the ignominious scaffold and his name will only live in history as the most despicable and depraved criminal in the annals of crime. He died excommunicated by the world and despised of all men.

A VERY enjoyable moonlight dancing party was given at Dunbar's Cave on last Tuesday night by Messrs. W. B. Dunlop and Lige Cunningham, and their friends.

Their cousin, Miss Ella Abernathy, of Pulaski, Tenn. Fifteen or twenty couples of the belles and beaux of this city and vicinity of the cave, were present and spent a most delightful evening. The night was a brilliant one, the atmosphere in the mouth of the cave cool and exhilarating, numberless Japanese lanterns casting a subdued and softened light over the scene and a good band furnished sweet music for the dancers.

Messrs. D. J. Mackey and W. B. Dunlop chartered the party in the most agreeable and pleasant manner, and all who went out were charmed with the evening's entertainment.

We learn that on Monday last, near McAlester's X Roads, on the Southside, two negro women, named Lou James and Sadie Jackson, engaged in a difficulty which resulted fatally in the last named. She was stabbed several times with a pocket knife and died in about five minutes. It is said that Lou James acted in self-defense, being attacked in a murderous manner in the middle of the road by Sadie Jackson. Lou was arrested and taken before a magistrate, but was discharged on the facts in the case. We did not learn the origin of the difficulty.

One day this week, Master Norman Nebbett, little son of Mr. Jones D. Nebbett, lost an squirrel hunting near his father's house some miles from this city, when he suddenly came across a red fox. He fired on the fleeing reynard and to his great joy killed him. Norman is very proud of his fine marksmanship, and justly so, for it is a rare thing for one of his swift, cunning animals to fall a victim to the sportsman's skill.

We call attention to the advertisement of the Clarksville Male Academy, Prof. Duncan M. Quarles, Principal. Prof. Quarles' qualifications as an instructor of young men are too well-known in this community and are of too high an order to need any mention from us. We speak without fear of contradiction when we say, he has no superior and few equals anywhere in the land. Send your sons to him and have them educated.

Our Catholic friends will have their annual picnic at Henry's grave on Tuesday, July 4th, at 10 o'clock, a. m. The picnic will be held at the grave of Henry, and a copy be furnished to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That as a token of respect to his memory, the graves of this lodge be draped in mourning, and that we wear the usual badge for thirty days.

Resolved, That in the death of our brother this lodge has lost one of its most valued members, and with his family and friends we mingle our tears. We extend to the children, friends and relatives our most sympathetic condolences in their affliction and bereavement.

Resolved, That this preamble and resolutions be read in the T. B. L. Lodge and CHRONICLE, also in the Baptist Reflector, at Nashville, and a copy be furnished to the family of the deceased.

GEORGE ALWELL, L. B. L. O. C. E. M. CLARK, Committee.

Auction Sale of Household and Kitchen Furniture.

Desiring to break up house-keeping, I will sell at my residence on Main street, (between 1st and 2d) on Friday, July 1st, commencing at 10 o'clock, a. m., my household and kitchen furniture, most of which is almost entirely new.

T. H. Hyman, Auctioneer.

PERSONAL.

Messrs. J. W. Rice and Charles Smith attended the drill in Louisville during the week.

Miss Lucy Vance, of Memphis, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Lucy Smith, at "Riverside," this city.

Mrs. Enoch Ensey, of Memphis, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Elder, of this city, during the week.

Mr. W. O. Brandon, of the Leaf, attended the Reynolds-Hall's nuptials at Owensboro, Ky., on Wednesday.

Mr. Walter P. Woldridge, of Columbia, and wife, Mrs. Miss Eliza Keese, were visiting relatives here this week.

Captain A. F. Smith, a popular tobacco inspector of Brooklyn, N. Y., was mixing with our tobacco men during the week.

Dr. Ben. F. Moody, Jr., and bride, Mrs. Mason, of Clarksville, were in the city yesterday, en route to their home at Sango, this county.

We were pleased a few days ago to meet in our office Mr. George Cummings, son of Mr. J. F. Cummings, of Nashville, and grandson of the late R. W. Thomas.

Mr. Patrick Sullivan, now engaged in railroad construction at Millburn, Ky., was here in attendance at the funeral of his brother, Mr. John Sullivan, on Monday.

Dr. S. M. Bemis, a prominent physician of New Orleans and a member of the National Board of Health, was visiting his family in this city during the present week.

Mr. J. Corban, one of the cleverest men of the county, gave us a call on Thursday morning. He is doing a general merchandise business at Cordendale on the railroad.

Mr. Sam. D. Power, of the Cheatham County, Ky. B. R. & Co. city grocery, "Brother Power" is the coming man. Floater for this district, and the Cheatham, hereby extends to him his hearty support. There is no better man in the district for the place.

Miss Ella Abernathy, an agreeable and accomplished young lady, of Pulaski, Tenn., is spending a few weeks with the Misses Williams and other relatives in and near the city. Miss Abernathy's grace of mind and manner have won her many admirers here.

Misses Lucy and Effie Morris, of St. Louis who have been spending some weeks with relatives here, returned home yesterday morning. The Misses Morris' visits are always delightful to their friends, and Clarksvillians wish they would consent to permanently adorn her social circles.

Miss Fannie Herrick, a recent pupil of the academy, and a most intelligent and agreeable young lady, who has been spending several weeks with the Misses Counts left Thursday morning for her home at Nashville. Her many admirers here hope to see her back at the Academy next session.

Col. J. W. Wallace, wife and daughter, Miss Carrie, and Misses Clara Stucker and Carrie Humphreys, left Thursday morning for Old Point Comfort, Va., where they will spend the summer season. They were to be joined at Guthrie by the Misses Warfield and Prof. Ingram, of Hopkinsville.

Mr. John O. Rust, a talented and pleasant young gentleman, of Hopkinsville, spent several days in the city last week. Mr. Rust enjoyed himself while in the Metropolis, and says it is a real pleasure to mingle with the thriving life and bustle of a live city after residing for a while in the rural precincts.

Miss Sara Butler, a cultivated and beautiful young lady of Pittsburg, Pa., after spending several weeks with friends in this city, leaves this morning for Nashville, causing regrets at her departure. Miss Butler is a charming addition to the social circles of any city she may visit.

Dr. N. L. Northington, one of the staunchest Democrats in the county, was in town on Wednesday. He informs us that his nephew, Hart Northington, died on last Saturday, and he had been sick for some time, and his death was not unexpected. He was a genial, clever man, and we greatly regret his death.

We had a pleasant call the other day from our old friend, Prof. J. W. Rust, the popular President of Bethel Female College at Hopkinsville. We found him as cordial and genial as ever, notwithstanding he has had conferred on him the honorable title of L. L. D. by the Southwestern Baptist University, of Jackson, Tenn. We feel that the institution that honors Prof
